

THE NICENE CREED

It is named “Nicene” because it was originally adopted in the city of Nicaea (modern-day Turkey) by the First Council of Nicaea in 325 AD. It was later revised at the First Council of Constantinople in 381 AD, and the updated form is indicated as the Nicene or the Niceno-Constantinopolitan Creed.

I believe in one God, Father Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth, and of all things visible and invisible.

...And in one Lord Jesus Christ, the only-begotten Son of God, begotten of the Father before all ages, Light of Light, true God of true God, begotten, not created, of one essence with the Father through whom all things were made; who for us humans and for our salvation came down from heaven and was incarnate of the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary and became man, and was crucified for us under Pontius Pilate, and suffered and was buried, and rose on the third day, according to the Scriptures, and ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father, and will come again with glory to judge the living and dead, whose kingdom shall have no end.

...And in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the Creator of life, who proceeds from the Father, who together with the Father and the Son is worshipped and glorified, who spoke through the prophets.

...And in one, holy, catholic, and apostolic Church.

I confess one baptism for the forgiveness of sins.

I look for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the age to come.

Amen.
